Newsletter for the week of November 26th, 2021

Making electrical circuits in Year 4 Science lessons

Dear All,

After an uncertain end of week trying to fathom the constantly changing government recommendations for managing the current Covid-19 situation, it has been a real pleasure (and genuine relief!) to put this week's Newsletter and Home School Letter together. Reading through the summaries from each class and choosing from the fantastic range of photos of happy children engrossed in their activities is a wonderful affirmation that, whatever the anxiety and confusion in society outside the school doors, within the buildings the children are benefitting from a rich wealth of experience and learning that is allowing them to grow and flourish in a safe, stimulating environment that keeps their world as 'normal' as possible.

The music and creativity have continued this week with rehearsals across the school for each of the shows, and yet more scenery and props appearing at the end of every day. There have been some ingenious transformations as we take on the recycling message and adapt objects and backdrops made over previous years. It's amazing what you can find hidden under boxes in very large cellars ... antique penguins have been given a make-over, in the Oak building Mr. Tranter's steam locomotive has been dismantled and re-engineered into a rickshaw, (amongst other things!), the costume store is revealing hidden treasures and we're currently on the hunt for the snowflake t-shirts ... have they already been transformed?! Watch this space!

On a more serious note, the KS1 & 2 Winter Shows are scheduled to take place next Monday and Thursday at the usual theatres in Wezembeek and Kraainem. Unfortunately, the government meetings on Friday did not include all of the decisions for school events and procedures, and these will be taken at another meeting on Monday morning. We will therefore let you know on Monday what the final arrangements for the shows will be.

We realise how excited the children are about the shows, and how much work and effort they have already put in to making them so special. We will obviously do our utmost to find the best solution possible in the current circumstances and to make sure that their energy, enthusiasm and commitment are valued and showcased. We also know how special it is for you as parents to share the excitement of the shows and to be a part of the very special school memories that they create. We too will be as creative as we can in finding solutions, and, in the meantime, continue to make the most of the learning opportunities that music, theatre and dance provide.

Thank you for your continued vigilance with regard to colds, coughs and runny noses. It is far better at the moment to be cautious and keep children off school if they seem to be slightly unwell, but please remember that they need a medical certificate if they are off school for more than three days. Thank you too for continuing to inform School Office of travel and quarantine dates, and for being so respectful of the required quarantine periods if family members have travelled.
